ORMISTON POINT

Fourteen homes, one rare address

Set moments from the water, Ormiston Point is a limited collection of just fourteen homes, quietly positioned within one of the bayside's most established enclaves.

Here, the presence of the bay shapes daily life, in light, movement, and mood. This is an address that is rarely offered, and never to be repeated.

Where the bay becomes yours

Life unfolds with the bay close at hand.

Morning walks trace the shoreline at Wellington Point, and afternoons drift between the marina at Raby Bay and the familiar rhythm of Cleveland's village streets.

Evenings return to stillness, where the horizon opens and the day slows. Everything feels within reach, yet nothing feels rushed.

Community & convenience

Positioned along McCartney Street, Ormiston Point sits within a landscape shaped by time and connection, where established homes, wide streets and a strong sense of community define the surrounds.

Renowned schools, local conveniences and everyday essentials are moments away, while Brisbane's CBD remains within easy reach. It is a place that balances retreat with accessibility, where the bay is constant, and the city never far.

Designed for life by the bay

Each of Ormiston Point's 14 lots has been carefully shaped to respond to its setting and designed to endure within it, forming a highly considered masterplanned address defined by private access and level, ready-to-build homesites ranging from 411m² to 692m².

Delivered in partnership with a trusted builder, each home is realised through a process that is both considered and seamless, allowing every residence to take shape with clarity and confidence while remaining tailored to individual lifestyles. The result is a streetscape that feels cohesive yet distinctly personal, where each home sits comfortably within a broader, shared vision, balancing architectural consistency with the freedom to create something truly your own.
